It Seems To Us!

THESIS

One of the better books to take away the taste of too much reference reading is Margaret Halsey's With Malice Toward Some. Written in diary form, the story is of the life of an exchange professor's wife in England. The book makes no pretense at plot or dramatic action, but it IS fun. An excerpt, "There is something about filling out printed forms which arouses lawless impulses in me and makes me want to do things which will have the file clerks sitting up with a jerk, like putting in, Religion—Druid. Today when one of my customs blanks said Occupation, I wrote down 'none,' though I suspected this would not do. A severe but courteous official confirmed this impression. So I crossed it out and wrote 'parasite,' which, not to be too delicate about it, is what I am. This made the official relax a little and he himself put housewife in what space was left. 'Be a prince,' I said. 'Make it typhoid carrier!'"

HE'S NO LONGER A PROFESSOR IF...

1. He, upon coming into the classroom doesn't spend the first ten minutes of the lecture moving his desk back an inch.
2. He spends six weeks on a subject and then actually gives a question on it in the final.
3. He comes to class with an unrumpled collar.
4. He, upon being confronted with an even ton of contradictory data, admits that he MIGHT have been mistaken.
5. He, during the winter months doesn't spend 15 minutes putting on and taking off his rubbers, and then another 15 minutes in telling why his wife makes him wear them.

—Selected.

One of the most dramatic plays on Broadway today is Of Mice and Men by John Steinbeck. The play is built on the characters and human relationships that arise from a social situation. Lennie, the huge man with the mind of a child, and George, the intelligent, lonely, itinerant rancher who is Lennie's friend, are the leading characters. The drama paints a pitiful picture of the men who harvest crops they never planted while they dream always of their own land and harvesting their own crops. As a really stirring drama, we suggest you read Of Mice and Men, a book in our library.

We suggest that all freshmen take particular notice of the following tale which came from one of the largest universities in the United States: A heartily depressed freshman walked into the school library one Thursday afternoon. Friday was the deadline for his English thesis and after reaching his brain for three weeks he had succeeded in writing... nothing. His last ray of hope came when he saw the huge files of thesis written by all the students who had once been freshmen in that university. He thumbed through a few of them and finally came to one that would suit his purpose. That night he typed feverishly and the thesis was ready for his English class Friday. With a feeling of guilty satisfaction he handed it in. Monday morning the professor asked to see him in his office after class! Something had happened to the well laid plans but the freshman went courageously into the office.

"Son," said the professor, "did you copy this thesis from the files in the library?"

"Yes, sir," was the only reply the poor freshman could make.

"Well, ordinarily I'd flunk you," said the professor, "but I think you showed rare good judgment in selecting this thesis so I'll give you an A. Confidentially, I got only a C on it when I wrote it, and I always figured I got jipped!"

The moral? Well you guess.

HERODOTEANS PRESENT FOUR SPEAKERS

Lawyer, Professor, Minister, and Student To Discuss Democracy

Attorney Linus Walker, Prof. Joe Trainor, Student Bob Nesbit, and Rev. Thompson will speak on What Is Wrong With Democracy; and What Can Be Done About It. The occasion is the Herodoteans' Open Forum, to be held January 31 at 7:30 in C-228.

This is of course a subject which has sufficient room for disagreement; and it is more than possible that the opinions put forth will not be very similar. In fact, we understand that one will take the stand that dictatorship is the answer while another contends that democracy is only a political issue and has nothing to do with social or economic life.

Knowing from past performances that the above speakers are well qualified, one will miss a most interesting and educating program by not attending.

OVER 100 HEAR PAPER ON BELLAMY

Last Friday night, Dr. Donald E. MacRae read a paper on the early life and works of Edward Bellamy, 19th Century romantic fictionist and Utopian, to an attentive audience of well over 100. Sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi in the second number of their new series of book reviews, Dr. MacRae discussed Bellamy as he was before 1887, when he wrote his first Utopian novel, Looking Backward.

In 1889, just 50 years ago, Bellamy predicted that in 50 years his plan of socialized economy would be in full and complete operation, and the worries of the nation would be rapidly coming to an end. Social legislation today, however, is very cautious. About the only difference between 1889 and 1939 are that we know a little more now and tories and radicals alike know the conditions they face and know what they might lose. Looking Backward and Equality, however, were extremely popular in the last part of the 19th Century. Their political views did have their effect, even to the extent of influencing the makers of the Democratic platform of 1896, and today provide a stern criticism of the 19th Century.

Edward Bellamy grew up in a New England manufacturing town, the son of a Baptist minister. After traveling in Europe, studying law, and writing for newspapers, he began to think of himself as a writer of fiction and wrote several short stories. They were mythical, supernatural, and sentimentally romantic, as was the custom of the 19th Century. They were very popular, however. He was praised by the critics of his day, and criticised only for the numerous tricks he used, none of which "... Hawthorne would have done."

Dr. MacRae concluded by saying that Bellamy is interesting to us today because he is typical, not a symbol, of the 19th Century.

JOE SMOKE WILL RETURN FOR W CLUB SMOKER

Former Local Wrestler Will Appear February 4

President George Palo of the Crimson W Club announced this week that the biggest smoker in the history of the club will be held in the New Gym February 4, beginning at 8 o'clock and featuring the return of the immortal Joe Smoke in a wrestling match with a bitter rival from the lower valley.

Good Card

This year's smoker is potentially the best this school and even the town has seen in recent years. Why? Because the boxers are the most experienced amateurs to show at a smoker in this town. Several of the best bouts are already scheduled. Pat Hansen, Yakima Valley Golden Gloves champion, will meet Joe Fetters, considered the best lightweight around Ellensburg, in a fast and furious headliner.

Al Goodman of football fame, who beat Red Hennegan, another Golden Gloves champion, in 3 rounds after breaking his hand in the first round, is matched with big Chuck Wilson, who claims to be the best in Ellensburg.

The third thriller schedules Jack Sayles and Bob Groesch in a match that is a tough one for the dopesters to pick a winner.

As the boys gradually round off in training form more bouts will be added with about nine bouts being on the tentative schedule.

The prices will be: 25c for students and 40c for adults. The W Club will be using their new ring for the first time.

JIM BROWN AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

We just received word that Jim Brown, who is studying at the University of Chicago on a leave of absence from the Morgan Junior High School, has been awarded a graduate service scholarship in the graduate school. Mr. Brown, who is known by many students of this college, is a graduate of Central Washington College of Ellensburg and at one time was editor of the Campus Crier. He is working for his master's degree in geography.

DIPLOMATIC BREECH

The humor that has been referred to as typically American cropped out during the late war scare in Europe. A Western Virginia University fraternity staged a "Hitler Party" to which members came costumed like Hitler. Seriously scorched by the German press, the party-goers cabled Hitler thus, "West Virginia University students hereby sever relations with Germany, prosit."

WHY STUDENTS COME TO C. W. C. E.

On page two of this issue appears a survey of the results of a late poll taken on this campus. The main purpose of this poll was to find why students enroll in this college. The results of this poll have proved very interesting, and we recommend the article to the readers of the Crier.

What started interest in a poll of this sort was a news article which appeared some time ago in the local daily paper to the effect that the State Board of Education had recommended that the three colleges of education be allowed to prepare teachers for high school. This would automatically allow the U. of W. and the State College to train elementary teachers. The feeling of many people was that the colleges of education would lose by it, contending that most of their students would transfer to either the State University or College.

This poll arises from a curiosity as to just how many students would transfer from this College, and why they come here in the first place.

FREEMAN TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Although there have been two previous postponements of Dr. Freeman's coming, he will be here Thursday, January 26.

Everyone is invited to attend and we are sure the lecture will be interesting as well as informational. He will show pictures with his talk about Hawaii.

JUNIORS TO HAVE QUEEN AT DANCE

Class Falls In Line With Current Vogue

Not to be outdone by the more progressive element in C. W. C. E., the junior class announces that a Queen will be chosen from the girls who attend the Barn Dance. Her official title will be either "The Hilly-Billy Queen" or "The Queen of the Cabbage Patch" (the committee can't get together).

The necessary qualifications are a good costume, a queenly manner, personality, good looks, ability as a dancer, scholarship, character, and the more hay seed she has in her hair the better.

She will be crowned with a couple of horseshoes and will reign over the evening's festivities from her throne of straw.

Some politicians kiss babies to get votes. Does that give any of you girls an idea?

A.C.P. TO HOLD PHOTO CONTEST

Minneapolis, Minn. Jan. 25—(ACP)—To give recognition to the outstanding photographs taken by college and university amateur photographers, Collegiate Digest will again this year publish an annual Salon Edition, editors of the publication announced recently. All students and faculty members of Central Washington College are invited to enter their photographs in the annual competition, a special communication to the Campus Crier states.

Besides giving recognition to individual photographers, the special Salon Edition of Collegiate Digest will show the high quality of the work being turned out by the nation's most active group of amateur photographers and will show the great progress made by that group since the publication of the first Salon Edition last year.

For this special edition, Collegiate Digest's editors will select two or three prints in each of the divisions listed below, the number selected depending upon the space needed for the presentation of the winning photos in each division. To the first place winners in each division, Collegiate Digest will present a special cash award of $5. To second and third place winners, $3 and $2 will be awarded.

MARIAN VAN TUYL TO BE IN CONCERT MONDAY

Dancer and Group Are Leaders in Profession

Marian Van Tuyl and her concert group will be here Monday, January 30, in a dance concert. The College is very fortunate to have this opportunity and everyone should take advantage of this unusual privilege. Miss Van Tuyl is one of the most outstanding younger dancers in the field of modern concert dance. Her activity has been centered in Chicago where, with her group, she has presented several concerts each year in addition to lecture-demonstrations and concerts in colleges and universities throughout the Middle West. She is a graduate in physical education from the University of Michigan, and has received much of her dance training from Martha Graham, well-known New York concert dancer, and Louis Homst, musician-composer and teacher of dance composition.

Comes West

Miss Van Tuyl has taken leave of absence from the University of Chicago to teach dance at Mills College, making her first trip west of the Mississippi River. Four young dancers, from her dance organization, have followed Miss Van Tuyl to the West Coast. Polly Ann Schwartz from Chicago, Susan Loeb from New York City, Eleanor Lauer, and Ruth Anne Heisey. These dancers are also outstanding concert dancers.

The music for most of Miss Van Tuyl's program has been composed after the dances were completed. Miss Van Tuyl does all the choreography herself. All the costumes are designed and executed by Miss Van Tuyl with the assistance of members of her group.

Highly Recommended

The Dance Observer, the important dance publication in this country, reviews the work of established artists and young dancers who are making their appearance on the concert stage. Of Marian Van Tuyl, in a Chicago season review, they say, "Marian Van Tuyl, one of the most dependable of Chicago dancers, had a strength and originality of the highest order. She is an outstanding choreographer and attains undeniably great results in her group work. Her recent work Apprehension—1938—is a powerful group number. The plan of the dance is so well organized that throughout the performance we were not conscious of the musical accompaniment. Nor does Miss Van Tuyl neglect humor, for the dances Traffic and Exhibition Piece make use of delightful patterns of comedy and suggestion."

POLL REVEALS WHY STUDENTS COME TO CENTRAL WASHINGTON COLLEGE

MAJORITY OF STUDENTS WOULD PREPARE FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHING HERE

By GEORGE KNEELAND

There has been some talk of allowing the Colleges of Education of this state to train teachers for senior high schools; this might automatically extend to the other colleges the privilege of training elementary teachers. There are arguments for and against the proposal. Those who do not favor the change say that the Colleges of Education could not compete successfully with the larger schools if each were given the opportunity to prepare teachers for the same field. They contend that the greater academic reputations of the University and the State College would attract many of the students who normally would have come to this college, while only a small number of prospective senior high school teachers would be drawn here.

It seemed possible to test the validity of this argument by the use of a questionnaire. So one was prepared with the purpose of finding out what the students would do if the status of the colleges were changed. The scope of the questionnaire was enlarged in order to find the relative importance of academic and non-academic considerations in influencing persons to come here.

The questionnaire was answered by 187 students. The results seem so significant that we are venturing a suggestion. As we were not in a position to control entirely the conditions under which he questionnaire was given, and as we could not reach all of the students in school, we realize that the results of this questionnaire may not be the same as if it were given to a larger number of students under more controlled conditions. Therefore we are suggesting to the Personnel department that this test, make perhaps, a few revisions in it, and have it answered by every student in school. We feel that such a questionnaire will eliminate any inadequacies which may be in this one, and that it will be valuable information to be used in deciding what attitude this school will take toward the question of preparing senior high school teachers.

The questionnaire which was prepared was made up of four questions. In listing them we have included the score which each received. The figures to the left of the first question represent only the number who made that consideration their first choice. The second and third choice are not included:

I. Number in order of their importance three of the following considerations which seriously influenced your decision to attend C. W. C. E.

- 16 (a) Academic reputation of C. W. C. E.
- 9 (b) Reputation of the training school of C. W. C. E.
- 17 (c) Offer of a job.
- 61 (d) Desire to teach in elementary, intermediate, or junior high grades.
- 34 (e) Location of friends or relatives here. Home in Ellensburg.
- 10 (f) Nearness of Ellensburg to your home.
- 30 (g) Economical living conditions and small college expenses.
- 2 (h) Because C. W. C. E. is a small college.

It can be seen, then, that out of 187, only 86 were influenced by academic considerations. Of these, only 61 were influenced by the desire to teach in elementary schools. 101, or almost 60 per cent, gave their chief reason as non-academic. Eighty-nine of these were influential first by economic reasons. Considering the second and third choices over 80 per cent of the students were influenced by one thing, the low cost of attending school here. We may conclude that although this is a school whose primary function is training elementary school teachers, fewer than one-third of the students in it are moved by a serious desire to teach in that field in preference to the senior high school field.

The other questions were directly concerned with what would happen if this college were able to prepare senior high school teachers. The questions were:

2. Would you prepare for senior high work if it were possible to do so at C. W. C. E.?

91 Yes 80 No

3. If it were possible to get an elementary certificate at the University or the State College of Washington, would you have gone there?

19 Yes 155 No

4. (Only for General College Students.) If you could get a Senior high teaching certificate at C. W. C. E. would you consider finishing your college work here?

33 Yes 13 No

The results were significant enough. They prove one point: That a majority of the students questioned are interested in becoming Senior high school teachers. Fifty-three percent of those preparing now for elementary work would like to get a Senior high school certificate at this school; and 72 percent of the General College students would consider finishing their education in this school if they could prepare here for Senior high school work. According to these figures the number of upper classmen of this school might be increased well over 50 percent if this possible change took place. On the other hand, fewer than 11 percent would leave here and go to the University or State College for their elementary certificate.

Dear Mom:

Talk about shocking experiences, I've really had some lately—electrical ones I mean. There's enough loose current around here to put the P. S. P. & L. Company out of business.

There's a boy over here who has some of the girls all a-flutter reading their palms. I wonder if he can read minds as well.

College students are pretty sentimental after all. You should have heard the applause when one of our players had to go out of the basketball game the other night, and there was just as much when everyone thought that one of the other boys was going to play. That's the kind of school spirit I like. It's not a bit sophisticated... but it sure is fun.

I went to church again and I learnt that we should have our neighbors and our enemies—probably because they are the same people.

I have to play with the children during recess as part of my practice teaching and I never saw such active kids. There's one in particular who is so active that if he was a little machine instead of a little child he probably would grow up to be a steam roller. They aren't so fond of tag or hide-and-seek, but they have initiated me into all the pleasures of "Cowboy, Ape and the Big Bad Witch." All of which are games they have originated.

I saw someone down town the other day that I thought I knew. I almost spoke but caught myself just in time. She was cross-eyed—well, not exactly cross-eyed, one eye just ignored the other.

You ought to hear me in choir. I do so much squeaking that you'd think I was some relation to a mouse. I can manage some of the high notes, but anything above G I take with my eyebrows.

I didn't want you to think that I was looking down on women or belittling men by what I said in my last letter. Women aren't the only smart ones. There are clever men, too. According to what I happened to overhear, "A smart man is one who hasn't let a woman pin anything on him since he was a baby."

I was interested to hear about your spinning wheels. I like them too—only I want four and a spare.

Well, so long mom! I have to go to jail. Now don't get worried—I'm just working on a unit in Community Life for the second grade.

Love, BABE.

P. S.—I need some stockings. You know, when a stocking gets a run, it's on its last leg.

VALUE PUT ON GRID AWARDS BY N. Y. POLICE

At least college football letters have been given a stated value. The New York City Civil Service Commission, in a move to attract college grid players to the police force, will allow one point for every varsity letter won by any applicant for a police post in the next civil service examination.

In addition to all this, the new recruits must be handsome, agile, and intelligent. "We want no 'Man Mountain Deans,'" says Paul J. Kern, head of the civil service commission, "the new cop must be streamlined."

Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian University All-American grid player, received more than 2000 letters and cards from fans during the 1938 season.

Marriage is the life-goal of 96 per cent of the students enrolled in the Pennsylvania College for Women.

Harvard University has established 20 scholarships of $500 each for refugees from Germany.

Approximately one-half of the students that enter college each year will not graduate.

Blood tests of 78,388 undergraduates in more than 500 American colleges indicate that 2 out of every 1000 students examined are infected with syphilis.

C. W. C. E. Downs Cheney To Take Conference Lead

SANDERS AND NORTH PACE WILDCATS TO VICTORY OVER CHENEY SAVAGES

UNDEFEATED WILDCATS SHARE TOP SPOT
WITH BELLINGHAM VIKINGS

Coach Nicholson's C. W. C. E. hoopsters remained tied for the lead of the Washington Intercollegiate Conference Saturday night when they toppled Cheney's Savages from the undefeated ranks, 40-7. With their veteran center, VanderBrink, in the infirmary with a leg injury, the Wildcats were rated second best against Cheney's strong squad, but as the final score indicates, the local boys outplayed, outchecked, and outscored the invaders from the opening whistle till the final horn.

Cheney drew first blood with a free throw conversion by Schreck; however, two field goals and a free throw by Sanders put the Wildcats ahead, 5-1, and they were never led again throughout the game. Threatened by a fast rally in the early minutes of the game, the Wildcats called time out, and went back into the fray refreshed, to pull away to a lead which was never less than 10 points.

Sanders Hot

Don Sanders displayed his best form of the season to take scoring honors with 15 points. He swished 6 out of 12 tries from the floor, and 3 out of 5 from the foul line, for the best average of the game. To top off a fine evening's performance, he played an outstanding floor game every minute he was in there.

North Clicks

Big Jim North, freshman center from Tukwila, turned in another game of heads-up basketball to establish himself beyond a doubt as one of the major "finds" of the current season. His deadly checking and tireless backboard work compensated the Wildcats for the loss of VanderBrink, enabling them to upset the dope decisively enough for even the most skeptical observer. Fouled on 13 of his 20 tries at the hoop, Jim managed to accumulate 10 points for second honors.

West Flashes for Visitors

For the visitors, West found the hoop most consistently, chalking up 8 points. Smith and Ulowitz were close behind, with 6 points each. The Savages were unfortunate in losing their tall men early in the encounter. Schreck going out on fouls before the game was well begun, Hipskind following early in the second half, and Magnus fouling out in the closing minutes. Inability to check Jim North's underhand delayed shot was largely responsible for the frequency of fouls.

Iron Men

Coach Nicholson used only six men in the entire game, sending Smith in once to relieve Sanders in the early part of the game, and again to replace Woodward, who fouled out in the final minutes. Smith found the rim twice to contribute 4 points to the Wildcat's score.

This win leaves C. W. C. E. and

W. A. A. INITIATES NEW MEMBERS

The Women's Athletic Association held its initiation for new members Thursday evening in the East room of Sue Lombard Hall. The members of the council, in formation of the letter W, performed the rites of the ceremony.

Each new member took her pledge while holding a lighted candle. Dora Brunner was in charge of the initiation, assisted by Betty Nelson and Frances Walker, who acted as hostesses. Honorary members, Miss Michaelson and Miss Dean, were guests. Old members were present, also.

Miss Puckett, the advisor, read a poem appropriate to the occasion. Margaret Jose played "Love's Old Sweet Song" in which all girls participated in singing. The rest of the meeting was spent informally and refreshments were served.

Bellingham in the undefeated column, with the Bellingham game in the offing. Bellingham's win over P. L. C. in their opening game last Friday night makes the whole conference set-up rest, at least temporarily, upon the outcome of the Viking-Wildcat game.

In the preliminary game, the line copped the series with a win over the backfield, 14-9. Hume was high man of the game with 5 points for the line. The backfield's 9 points were distributed among the five men, with Palo taking the odd point.

Sports Chatter

Have you noticed the lads trotting around in next to nothing out on our football field? You may think they're rushing the season a bit, but Coach Mabree is pretty serious about it. He's got a bunch of fellows turning out regularly on the cinder path, and another bunch getting in shape with an hour's workout in the gym every night... and just by the way, this freshman, Harold Mong, is no slouch in the mile dash.

Do you mind if I rehash my basketball story a little? I just want to remind you that that dizzy shot of Jim North's played a big part in the winning of the game Saturday night... everyone who tried to check it fouled him... result, Schreck and Hipskind out on fouls, and untold damage to the Savage morale... not to mention 6 points for Jim.

Nick's Intramural basketball league finally shows promise of getting under way. He says he'll have a schedule drawn up some time this week. I pick either Pennington's or Howard's team to come out on top.

If the series between the backfield and the line proved nothing else, let's assume that it indicates one thing: all the best ball handlers aren't necessarily in the backfield; on the contrary, the reverse seems to be the case, at least on this year's C. W. C. E. lineup.

I don't suppose this will have any effect, but I'm going to tell you about it anyway... Doug Munro has permission from Nick to assemble and manage a tumbling class at 10 o'clock daily. Anyone in the 10 o'clock P. E. class now, or anyone else who has that period free, can find out all about it by seeing Doug. If enough are interested, Doug'll teach 'em. It's really no sissy's game, fellows, and it'll eliminate that German goiter in record time.

From Saturday night's basketball game... for Ellensburg, North and East... for Cheney, West... too bad they couldn't have dug up a South, just to keep things ship-shape. As it was, it seems to me a triangular would have been appropriate.

A "marine" view such as might be obtained at a beautiful lake is this pleasant vista of the California State Building and colonnades at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. The view is that seen over the Lake of the Nations, which lies between one of the main exhibit palaces and the group of state and county structures.

HOFFMAN WRITES SONG FOR WASHINGTON

By G. H. T.

As part of the Golden Jubilee advertising campaign, the Washington State Progress Commission has requested two famous native Washingtonians to introduce the new official Washington State song. Bing Crosby and Tiny Timmy, both of radio fame and Washington born have been requested to play it on their national radio programs to introduce it to the entire United States.

At the request of Leo Weisfield of the Washington State Progress Commission, Al Hoffman, one of the nation's foremost popular composers and also a Washingtonian, wrote the words to the new song which was first introduced at the recent Legislative Ball in Olympia. Mr. Hoffman also wrote "Auf Wiedersehen" and many other popular song hits.

The song was written to boost the Golden Jubilee, and Mr. Weisfield has urged that all citizens obtain copies and learn the song.

"It has a good swing and will make you proud of the state in which you live," he declared.

MARIAN VAN TUYL

Bennington School of the Dance during the summer of 1938, Henry Gilford, dance critic, says "Marian Van Tuyl has danced for a number of years in Chicago, a dancer of considerable lyric quality, who thinks in broad human terms and who is apparently much concerned with the direction of mankind. Her Directions (Lopatnikoff) (Flight, Indecision, Redirection) and In the Clearing (Gregory Tucker), both older compositions, indicate, however, that her thinking has been done along very broad lines, lines which intend a thoroughly sincere answer to very anxious human problems."

Of the reviews accorded the three Bennington School Fellows, Marian Van Tuyl's work is given the highest praise. On October 26, Mills College presented Marian Van Tuyl and her group in a dance concert. Her concert included Salutation Dance (from suite Traffic: Seven Themes of Enterprise and Evasion); Directions (Flight, Indecision, Redirection); American (Piazza Sketches: Alone, Together, Public Condolences, Public Rejoicings); Triumphant Figure; Epilogue to Victory, Two Sentimentalities (Ballad, Valse); Exhibition Piece; and In the Clearing.

PROGRESS COMMISSION SPONSORS GOLDEN JUBILEE

November 11 of this year is a red letter day for the people of the state of Washington, for one this day they are to celebrate the anniversary of Washington's 50th birthday. The event is being glorified with a Golden Jubilee of both state and national significance.

On November 11, 1889, by a proclamation signed by President Benjamin Harrison, Washington became the 42nd state of the Union. Since that time many of those who took part in the celebrations of that memorable day have passed on, but the more fortunate of them have been allowed to witness and appreciate the progress of this last frontier state. To them this Golden Jubilee must be indeed significant.

On the occasion of his inauguration as the first governor of the newly-created state Governor Elisha P. Ferry remarked:

"The attention of the world has been attracted by our commercial facilities, by our agricultural and manufacturing advantages, our resources of timber, coal and iron, and the precious metals, and by our phenomenally pleasant climate... commerce, manufacturing and agriculture, the three great elements of a nation's prosperity, are on a firm basis, and the possibilities of their future development are boundless."

This conception holds true today, without exception and in every detail, as it did when Governor Ferry made this remark 50 years ago.

The Golden Jubilee is focusing the attention of an entire nation on the life and opportunities that exist in this state.

An "Invite a Million" campaign is being sponsored by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the endorsement and support of the Washington State Progress Commission.

As the state's official publicity department, the Progress commission's national and regional advertising this coming year will be directed to attracting a million tourist visitors from every part of the country.

It is the contention of the supporters of this program that tourists who actually see this state with their own eyes can't help but be impressed by its beauties, its opportunities for industrial development, and its many advantages for establishing permanent residence.

Washington is to be prominently exhibited at the two great world's fairs, at San Francisco and New York, and special efforts are being made to have the millions of east-west travelers visit Washington state on their way to or from the fairs.

The tourist business, it is claimed, already yields nearly $100,000,000 yearly to the merchants of this state. It is a cash business and is growing larger every year.

It is up to the people of Washington to play the part of genial host and make these visitors feel at home, and according to the Progress Commission preparation for this task should be made now.
